Echo of Rottweiler attack on baby

Henceforth pet dog owners must have licence

Mysuru, Sept. 9 (RK&BCT) Does your dog have a licence? You will be asked this question soon as the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) is mulling to bring in a rule where licences for pet dogs will be mandatory. The MCC action comes after a child was mauled by a pet dog in Kuvempunagar on Sept. 7.

Dr. Suresh

It may be recalled here that two-year-old Amoghavarsha was attacked and scalped by the family pet Rottweiler when he was playing along with the animal at Dattagalli Second Stage near Kuvempunagar. After the attack, the little boy bore several gnashes on his head and he underwent multiple plastic surgery and other related corrective procedures at a city hospital.

Taking the dog attack incident seriously, the MCC will bring in the licence rule within a week or so. Speaking to Star of Mysore, Assistant Director of MCC Veterinary Department Dr. Suresh said that once the licence rule is implemented, all pet owners in the city will have to get their dogs registered.

Cats and some other pets excluding species protected under different schedules need no licence, apparently because they are considered less likely to cause harm to others. "It is the responsibility of the pet dog owners to get the licence done. This will help us keep track of pet population in city," he said.

In New Delhi and Mumbai, pet owners can get the licence online. This helps the officials keep a count of dogs that have received anti-rabies vaccination. In Bengaluru, the civic body has proposed a one-dog-per-flat and three-dogs-per-house-rule to regulate the number of pet dogs.

Once a pet owner applies for a licence, he/ she will have to fill up a particular format that will have a series of questions to understand the purpose of owning a pet. "People will have different needs and there are dogs to suit their requirements. We can suggest the dog breeds so that ferocious ones like the Rottweilers and the Pit Bull can be avoided," Dr. Suresh said.

Pet owners will be sensitised on the rules for pets that have been listed under Society for Prevention of Cruelty for Animals Act, he added.

Illegal explosive factory, mass graves found in Dera Headquarters

New Delhi, Sept. 9 - An illegal explosive factory used to make crackers was found inside Gurmeet Ram Rahim Singh's Dera Sacha Sauda headquarters near Haryana's Sirsa this morning, the second day of a search operation being carried out by hundreds of security personnel and local administration. The factory has now been sealed.

Earlier, the Haryana Police had arrested at least three Dera Sacha Sauda followers for hatching conspiracy of trying to help Gurmeet Ram Rahim escape from Panchkula during agitation. Ram Rahim is in jail after being convicted for rape.

A team of experts was called in to probe the skeletons that have been recovered.

Tale of Teachers

The nation has celebrated early this week the annual event of Teachers Day marked by the usual quietude. The teacher fraternity of institutions offering courses at higher levels of learning were far outnumbered by the army of their counterparts in primary, secondary and even at 10+2 levels, betraying the former section's pre-occupation with issues unrelated to academics and their first charge of empowering the country's youth to face the challenges of life. They seemingly continue to be unfazed by the repeated verdict of entrepreneurs, particularly in the country's industry sector, that the majority (85 per cent or so) of the graduates emerging from Universities offering technical education are unemployable, a harsh-sounding verdict at that.

The British politician Thomas Babington Macaulay (1800-1859) is often quoted by critics of colonial rule over the country for voicing the policy of liquidating indigenous culture via the education system under the English Education Act 1835. However, oceans of water has flowed under the bridge since that point of time to this day even as nothing concrete has happened to either revive the indigenous culture or create a system of education that can effectively neutralise Macaulayism.

Literacy* in English among a considerably large section of the land's diaspora and proficiency in the global lingua franca among those who have chosen to write essays, poetry, novels, biographies, travelogues, textbooks for use in schools as well as colleges, autobiographies, articles in dailies, research papers for publication in journals, both indigenously published and internationally valued and so on cannot be undervalued as a legacy of that much-maligned British Raj in the land. While the roadmap for the future of India's education system is still to emerge, what with the plan to bestow sovereignty to Hindi as national language (Rastrabhasha) yet to be accepted in many regions of the land.

Schooling of their children through English medium as a sureshot option to increase the opportunities and chances of landing a job being the conviction of even the illiterate parents, those aspiring to become teachers are too obliged to place their faith in the language that nearly 65 percent of the world 's headcount communicate in. That concludes the tale of teachers.

Two bhakts exchanging notes – pun not intended – on the merits of demonetisation.

1st bhakt: No matter what these lefty liberals like Amartya Sen and Raghuram Rajan say, demonetisation has been a great boon for us. 2nd bhakt: You bet it has. What with 99% of the banned 500 and 1,000 rupee notes having been returned to the RBI it's obvious that magically – chhooo mantar! – black money has disappeared as though it never existed in the first place.

1st bhakt: And along with black money so have all the nakli notes that were funding terrorism. 2nd bhakt: But how come terrorists continue to carry out terror strikes?

1st bhakt: Oh, those are only nakli terrorists, not real ones. According to the brilliant reasoning of demonetisation, only fake notes could fund real terrorism. So, by that logic, real notes would have the inverse effect and could fund only nakli terrorism. 2nd bhakt: That's very reassuring. But the greatest benefit of demonetisation has been the remonetisation made necessary by demonetisation. India is literally minting money, with the RBI churning out new notes to replace the old banned notes.

1st bhakt: But what'll we do with all the old banned notes the RBI collects? 2nd bhakt: Don't worry. That's where Skill India comes in. We'll provide mass employment by imparting special skills to the people who'll dispose of the old notes. All we have to do is figure what special skills are needed to become a raddiwala... — Jug Suraiya in The Times of India.

"Human catalogue"

Stockholm: 23-years-old Yaanja Wintersoul says that there's no such thing as a photographic memory, and that it's all about training your brain. Winner of the two time World Memory Championship is also become IKEA's "human catalogue," memorising most of the details in the company's 328-page 2018 catalogue in only a week.

"IKEA just sent me the catalogue and said good luck, she loves a challenge so she started flipping through the pages and using various memory techniques to store as many details as possible. At the end of the one week period, she regarded as a phenomenon. During several live sessions and interviews, Yaanja was not only remember all the 4,818 products and what pages they were featured on in the catalogue, but also the special characteristics of each products and even minute details about the decor and lighting on every page.

Finally chocolate got colour!

Zurich: Ever since Nestlé introduced white chocolate, 80 years ago, chocolate has been available in only three main varieties – dark, milk and white. Well, it's apparently time to add a fourth type to the list — Ruby pink chocolate.

Zurich-based Barry Callebaut, the world's largest based cocoa processor, has apparently spent the last 13 years trying to produce naturally pink chocolate out of ruby cocoa beans. This cocoa variety grows in different parts of the world, including Ecuador, Brazil & the Ivory Coast, but the Swiss company is the first to actually convert it into pink chocolate, through a sophisticated process. Unveiled in Shanghai, China, this Tuesday, ruby chocolate is reportedly sweet yet slightly sour, with a distinct natural berry taste befitting its colour. The treat has already been tested in key markets, including China, and Barry Callebaut, receiving great feedback. "We don't add flavourings, we don't add colouring, or additives: it's purely coming out of this bean, and its all natural," Peter Boone, chief innovation and quality officer for Barry Callebaut, told newspaper.

It's one of the safest drugs, provided you don't overdose. It's easy to overdose on acetaminophen (APAP) because its found in so many products. Look for it in OTC drugs for pain, fever, cough, cold and insomnia. Don't exceed 3,250 MG in a 24-hour period, or 650 MG in a single dose.

Darkness persists on Ring Road

Sir,

The Ring Road stretch from Seshadripuram College to Hinkal junction that includes the major road leading to Rane Madras is plunged into darkness since the past three days as none of the lights are switched on. Earlier the lights would go off at 11 pm but now there is darkness all through the evening. This poses a great risk not only to road-users and pedestrians but will also invite crime.

Hence, I request the authorities to look into the matter and also enlighten citizens on the timings of lights; according to some inputs there is no way the lights can be switched off on Ring Roads but we see that they go off every night at 11pm.

16 Lakh families to get new BPL cards soon: CM

CM Siddharamaiah is seen lighting the lamp to inaugurate the programme organised for the launch of development works of Centre-sponsored Atal Mission for Rejuvenation and Urban Transformation (AMRUT) Project at Mandya yesterday as others look on.

Mandya, Sept.9 (Nagaiah &DM)- Chief Minister Siddharamaiah has said that 16 lakh families would get new BPL cards in a fortnight.

Speaking at the launch of development works of Centre-sponsored Atal Mission for Rejuvenation and Urban Transformation (AMRUT) Project here yesterday, Siddharamaiah said that the Government schemes are not limited to only AHINDA communities, but has reached all 6.5 crore people of the State.

Pointing out that the Government has earmarked Rs. 764 crore for irrigation projects for the year 2017-18, he said that the total farm loans availed by the farmers is Rs. 52,000 crore, out of which Rs. 10.730 crore is from Co-operative Societies and the remaining is from Nationalised Banks. The State has waived loans up to Rs. 50,000 availed from Co-operative Societies. Similarly, if the Centre announces loan waiver of Nationalised Banks, it would help the farmers, he said.

Noting that with the distribution of 16 lakh new BPL cards, the number of Anna Bhagya beneficiaries in the State will increase to four crore, Siddharamaiah said around 1.5 crore children across the State are being benefited by Ksheera Bhagya scheme where milk is distributed in schools for five days a week.

Recalling his long association and emotional attachment for the district from his student days, the CM said that he won't discriminate between Mysuru and Mandya as both the districts are equally dear to his heart.

He further said that the State Government will fix the sugarcane price based on that to be fixed by the Union Government.

Housing and Mandya District in-Charge Minister M. Krishnappa, Animal Husbandry Minister A. Manju, Transport Minister H.M. Revanna, MP C.S. Puttaraju, MLAs K.S. Puttannaiah, D.C. Thammanna, P.M. Narendra Swamy, Ramesh Babu Bandisiddegowda, ZP President J. Prema Kumari, DC N. Manjushri, ZP CEO B. Sharath and a host of officials were present.

The city had turned into a fortress in view of the CM's visit. Heavy security arrangements were made as a precautionary measure. The Police detained BJP workers who were staging a protest at Visveswaraya Circle, accusing the State Government of failing to invite Union Ministers for the launch of Centre-sponsored projects. The CM later launched works on a mega dairy coming up at a cost of Rs. 227 crore on the premises of Mandya Milk Union Limited (ManMUL) at Gejjalagere, Maddur taluk.

Only Prime Minister can solve Mahadayi issue

Mandya, Sept. 9 (Nagaiah &DM)- Chief Minister Siddharamaiah yesterday called upon Prime Minister Narendra Modi to intervene in resolving the Mahadayi river water sharing dispute.

Speaking to press persons on his arrival at Tubinakere Helipad near Mandya, he said that the State BJP leaders should assure the Maharastra and Goa Chief Ministers to take part in the talks to end the row. Siddharamaiah also alleged that the State BJP leaders had not met the Goa and Maharashtra CMs in this regard.

Referring to the implementation of Mahadayi Project, the CM said that the State Government has sent a CDR in this regard to the Centre and was awaiting clearance from the Centre.

Replying to a question on release of water to KRS canals, he said, a favourable decision on releasing water will be taken at ICC meeting. Replying to another question on the killing of senior journalist Gauri Lankesh, the CM said that the SIT has been constituted to probe the murder.

Stating that the investigation into the murder has been expedited, Siddharamaiah said that a decision on handing over the probe to CBI will be taken only after meeting all her family members.

BJP workers held

Even as Siddharamaiah was to take part in a number of programmes in the town, the Mandya Police took several BJP workers, who were protesting near Sir MV Statue, into custody.

Telangana team joins SIT to probe Gauri Lankesh murder

Gauri

Bengaluru, Sept. 9 - Four days after journalist Gauri Lankesh was gunned down at her residence in Bengaluru, the Special Investigation Team (SIT) that is probing the murder is yet to get any credible information that can lead them to her killers.

Apart from the alleged right-wing angle, the team is looking at Naxal links as well as any personal feud or property dispute that may have led to the crime.

Yesterday, the Telangana Police joined the probe even as the SIT questioned several people who were constantly in touch with Gauri over the last few months to ascertain the motive behind the killing.

A team of Police officials from Telangana are looking at whether any Naxal group had any dispute over her initiative to help Naxals join the mainstream. With rumours floating that the move did not go down well with some Naxals, the team will explore whether they are involved in the murder.

Two teams have also been sent to neighbouring States, including Tamil Nadu-Kerala border areas, to gather information about Naxal activities and sale of country-made firearms here.

Sources said that though the SIT team visited Gauri's residence to gather information, the team has not managed to get any clue about assailants or even the motive so far. The case is turning out to be a challenging one for the SIT as no clue was found at the spot except for empty cartridges. The CCTV footage too has not given any leads to them.

LONE KILLER?

The SIT is reportedly following a lead which suggests that the bullets were fired by a single person. The SIT has also made headway in establishing facial features of Lankesh's assailant. The information has been collected from footage captured by a CCTV camera near a park, which the murderer reportedly passed after firing at Lankesh.

According to sources, the assailant took off his helmet near the park and turned in the direction of the CCTV camera. The line of inquiry that the SIT is following is that the murderer rode up to Lankesh's car, got off his bike and fired at her. Investigators are however, yet to get a clear image of bike's number plate.

CCTV FOOTAGE

The CCTV footage shows a person wearing black jacket and helmet firing at her. However, the person's face is not clearly visible in the video nor is his vehicle, the Police said. They, however, are examining footage of CCTVs at different locations to gather information. "We have sent CCTV footage gathered from Gauri's residence to make sketches of the suspect. As of now we don't have any clarity on the number of assailants — if it was just one person or more. We are analysing technical angles such as mobile phone records and are on a lookout for Supari killers who are active in the State," an officer said.

Mere worshipping Rivers as Mother will not save them, says Jaggi Vasudev

Veerendra Heggade, Suttur Mutt Seer Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji, Sadhguru Jaggi Vasudev, member of Mysore Royal Family Pramoda Devi Wadiyar, MLA M.K Somashekar and Actor Ganesh.

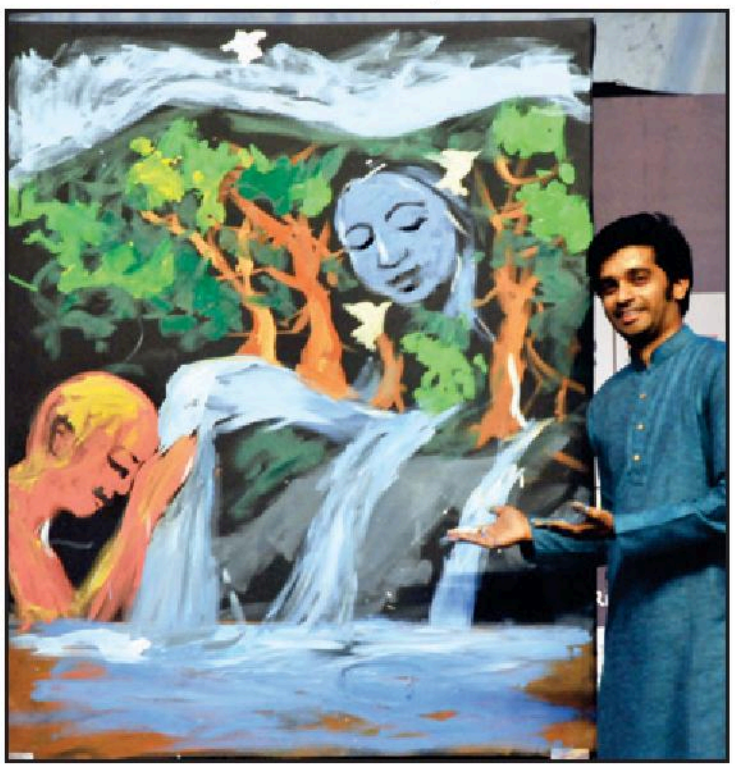
Mysuru, Sept. 9 (SBD&BCT)- The 'Rally for Rivers – India's Lifelines' campaign that entered the city yesterday received a good response. The campaign, launched by Sadhguru Jaggi Vasudev, Founder of Coimbatore-based Isha Foundation began in Coimbatore on Sept. 3 and yesterday morning, an interaction meet was held between the farmers of Karnataka and Tamil Nadu at Meenakshipura on the backwaters of Krishna Raja Sagar Dam.

A stage programme was held yesterday evening at Maharaja's College Grounds where dignitaries including Dharmadhikari of Srikshetra Dharmasthala Dr. D. Veerendra Heggade, Suttur Mutt Seer Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji, Sadhguru Jaggi Vasudev, Member of Parliament Pratap Simha, MLAs M.K. Somashekar, K.S. Puttannaiah, member of Mysore Royal Family Pramoda Devi, green crusader Salumarada Thimmakka and actor Ganesh participated.

In his address, Jaggi Vasudev opined that mere worshipping rivers as mother would not save them. "Rivers must be conserved and a detailed action plan is required where green cover is increased on the river banks. Trees must extend up to one kilometre on the banks and this is one way of conserving them," he said. Stressing on the need of 'River Revitalisation Policy', Jaggi Vasudev said that all the States and the Union government should formulate the river policy for the welfare of people, especially farmers.

"I would submit the draft river revitalisation Policy to the Centre on October 2 which would be made public later seeking feedback and suggestions. The draft has been prepared by the Tamil Nadu Agricultural University, in association with the National Institute of Hydrology, Roorkee, and numerous scientists," he said.



Artist Vilas Naik is seen with his painting of the present state of rivers at the Rally for Rivers campaign in city.

We need to pay more attention to the Cauvery River itself. The Cauvery is now only 40% of what it was 50 years ago. It does not touch the ocean two to three months in a year. It is not just the Cauvery but almost all our rivers are going through this. It is a disaster unfolding in this country.

"I have rafted down the Cauvery from Bhagamandala to the Krishna Raja Sagara Dam and the Brindavan Gardens in Karnataka. One thing that really stands out is that in these entire 160 kilometres, it is only in the first 30-35 kilometres that there is any forest vegetation. After that, there is just agriculture. How will a river flow then?" he questioned.

Suttur Mutt Seer Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji lauded the Isha Foundation for taking up the noble cause to save rivers. "We have come to a stage where even in villages we are forced to purchase water," he said, calling upon people to save the natural resources.

Dharmadhikari of Srikshetra Dharmasthala Dr. Veerendra Heggade said that people must come out of their dream world and face the reality. "Rally for rivers must be a pro-people movement and only people can save the rivers," he said.

A cultural programme was held as part of the Rally for Rivers campaign where artist Vilas Naik drew pictures to describe the present state of rivers. Dr. Anish Violin Vidyashankar enthralled the audience with his "walking style" violin playing. Little Achinthya of 'Drama Juniors' fame also performed.

Words Vs Swords... ...And the Trolls

Journalist and activist Gauri Lankesh has been assassinated. The gun has silenced the pen.

After the news of her death broke, I received calls from friends and family warning me to watch what I write as we now live in an atmosphere of hate.

When I asked one of them why he felt no outrage about stifling of free speech, he said "Free speech doesn't mean you are free to say whatever you want, and insult other people's belief in a derogatory and provocative manner."

Yes, Gauri Lankesh had extreme opinions. She mocked Hinduism; she especially insulted the RSS by almost always referring to them as "chaddis." She sided with Naxals but then was brave enough to coax some of them into social mainstream. This at the cost of upsetting the Maoists.

But more importantly, at the core of all that mockery and insult, she was trying to push a much-needed agenda — social reform.

The issue many of her critics had with Gauri was that they could not debate with her. Some say they did not want to is because, as one person said, "when you mock and are overly aggressive you do not invoke a debate but provoke disgust."

This conflict of words Vs swords reminded me of an observation made by SOM columnist Devdutt Pattanaik. He spoke about the relationship between emotional violence and physical violence. He said, "Emotional violence is not measurable. Physical violence is. That makes the latter a crime that can be proven." Implying that emotional violence cannot be measured, hence cannot be punished.

Pattanaik adds, "The intellectual can hurt with his/her words. The soldier can hurt with his/her weapons. We live in the world where the former is acceptable, even encouraged. The latter is not. Those who think and speak are superior to those who beat and kill, even if the wounds created by word-missiles can be deeper, last longer and fester forever. I, the intellectual, have the right to provoke; but you, the barbarian who only knows to wield violence, have no right to get provoked and respond the only way you know how to. If you do get provoked, you have to respond in my language, not yours, brain not brawn, because the brain is superior. I, the intellectual make the rules. The killings provoked by the thinker thus goes unnoticed. The thinker — the seed of the violence — chuckles as the barbarian, whose only vocabulary is physical, will be caught and punished while mental warfare will go on with brutal precision."

So the question is how much of a free speech can we have? Are we ready for free speech in its truest sense that no matter how harsh an opinion we will tolerate it? I doubt it. But Gauri could be debated with; just that no one had the guts nor the patience to do so. Guess, gun was the easy way out.

Pattanaik also says, "When the ill-equipped barbarian even attempts to fight back using words, we mock him as the troll." Maybe so but...

The problem is, today trolls are not uneducated barbarians; they are educated brutes. The things that are being said about Gauri Lankesh in social media are just plain perverse and in some cases sexually deviant.

Earlier, uneducated mobs would confront you on the streets; now educated trolls feel brave hiding behind their screen, spewing verbal violence. Worse, they do so in two sentences and half knowledge.

For example, one person mockingly asked why a lady named 'Gauri Lankesh Patrike' only calls herself Gauri Lankesh and added, "Is she trying to hide her Christian lineage?" He had assumed that 'Patrike' was 'Patrick,' a Christian name! Another person responded to this by explaining to him that 'Patrike' meant newspaper in Kannada and ended by calling him a dung-head!

Earlier, people had dual persona, one in the house and another in public; now it seems we have a third one for the virtual world.

I appreciated Gauri's idea of social reform, but was no fan of how she expressed it or even debated it. But like many, I liked her writing in English, I respected her ability to live life on her own terms and live it with conviction. Yes, she was vociferous; she was aggressive in her approach to social reforms but she was a courageous woman, a brave human and now she is dead.

The death of a fellow citizen, of a journalist and an activist must outrage everybody because, as Martin Niemoller, a Protestant Pastor said:

First they came for the Socialists, and I did not speak out — Because I was not a Socialist.

Then they came for the Trade Unionists, and I did not speak out — Because I was not a Trade Unionist.

Then they came for the Jews, and I did not speak out — Because I was not a Jew.

Then they came for Me — and there was no one left to speak for Me.

We need voices of dissent in a democracy, else one day there will be no one left to speak for us. We cannot allow the gun to be mightier than the pen.

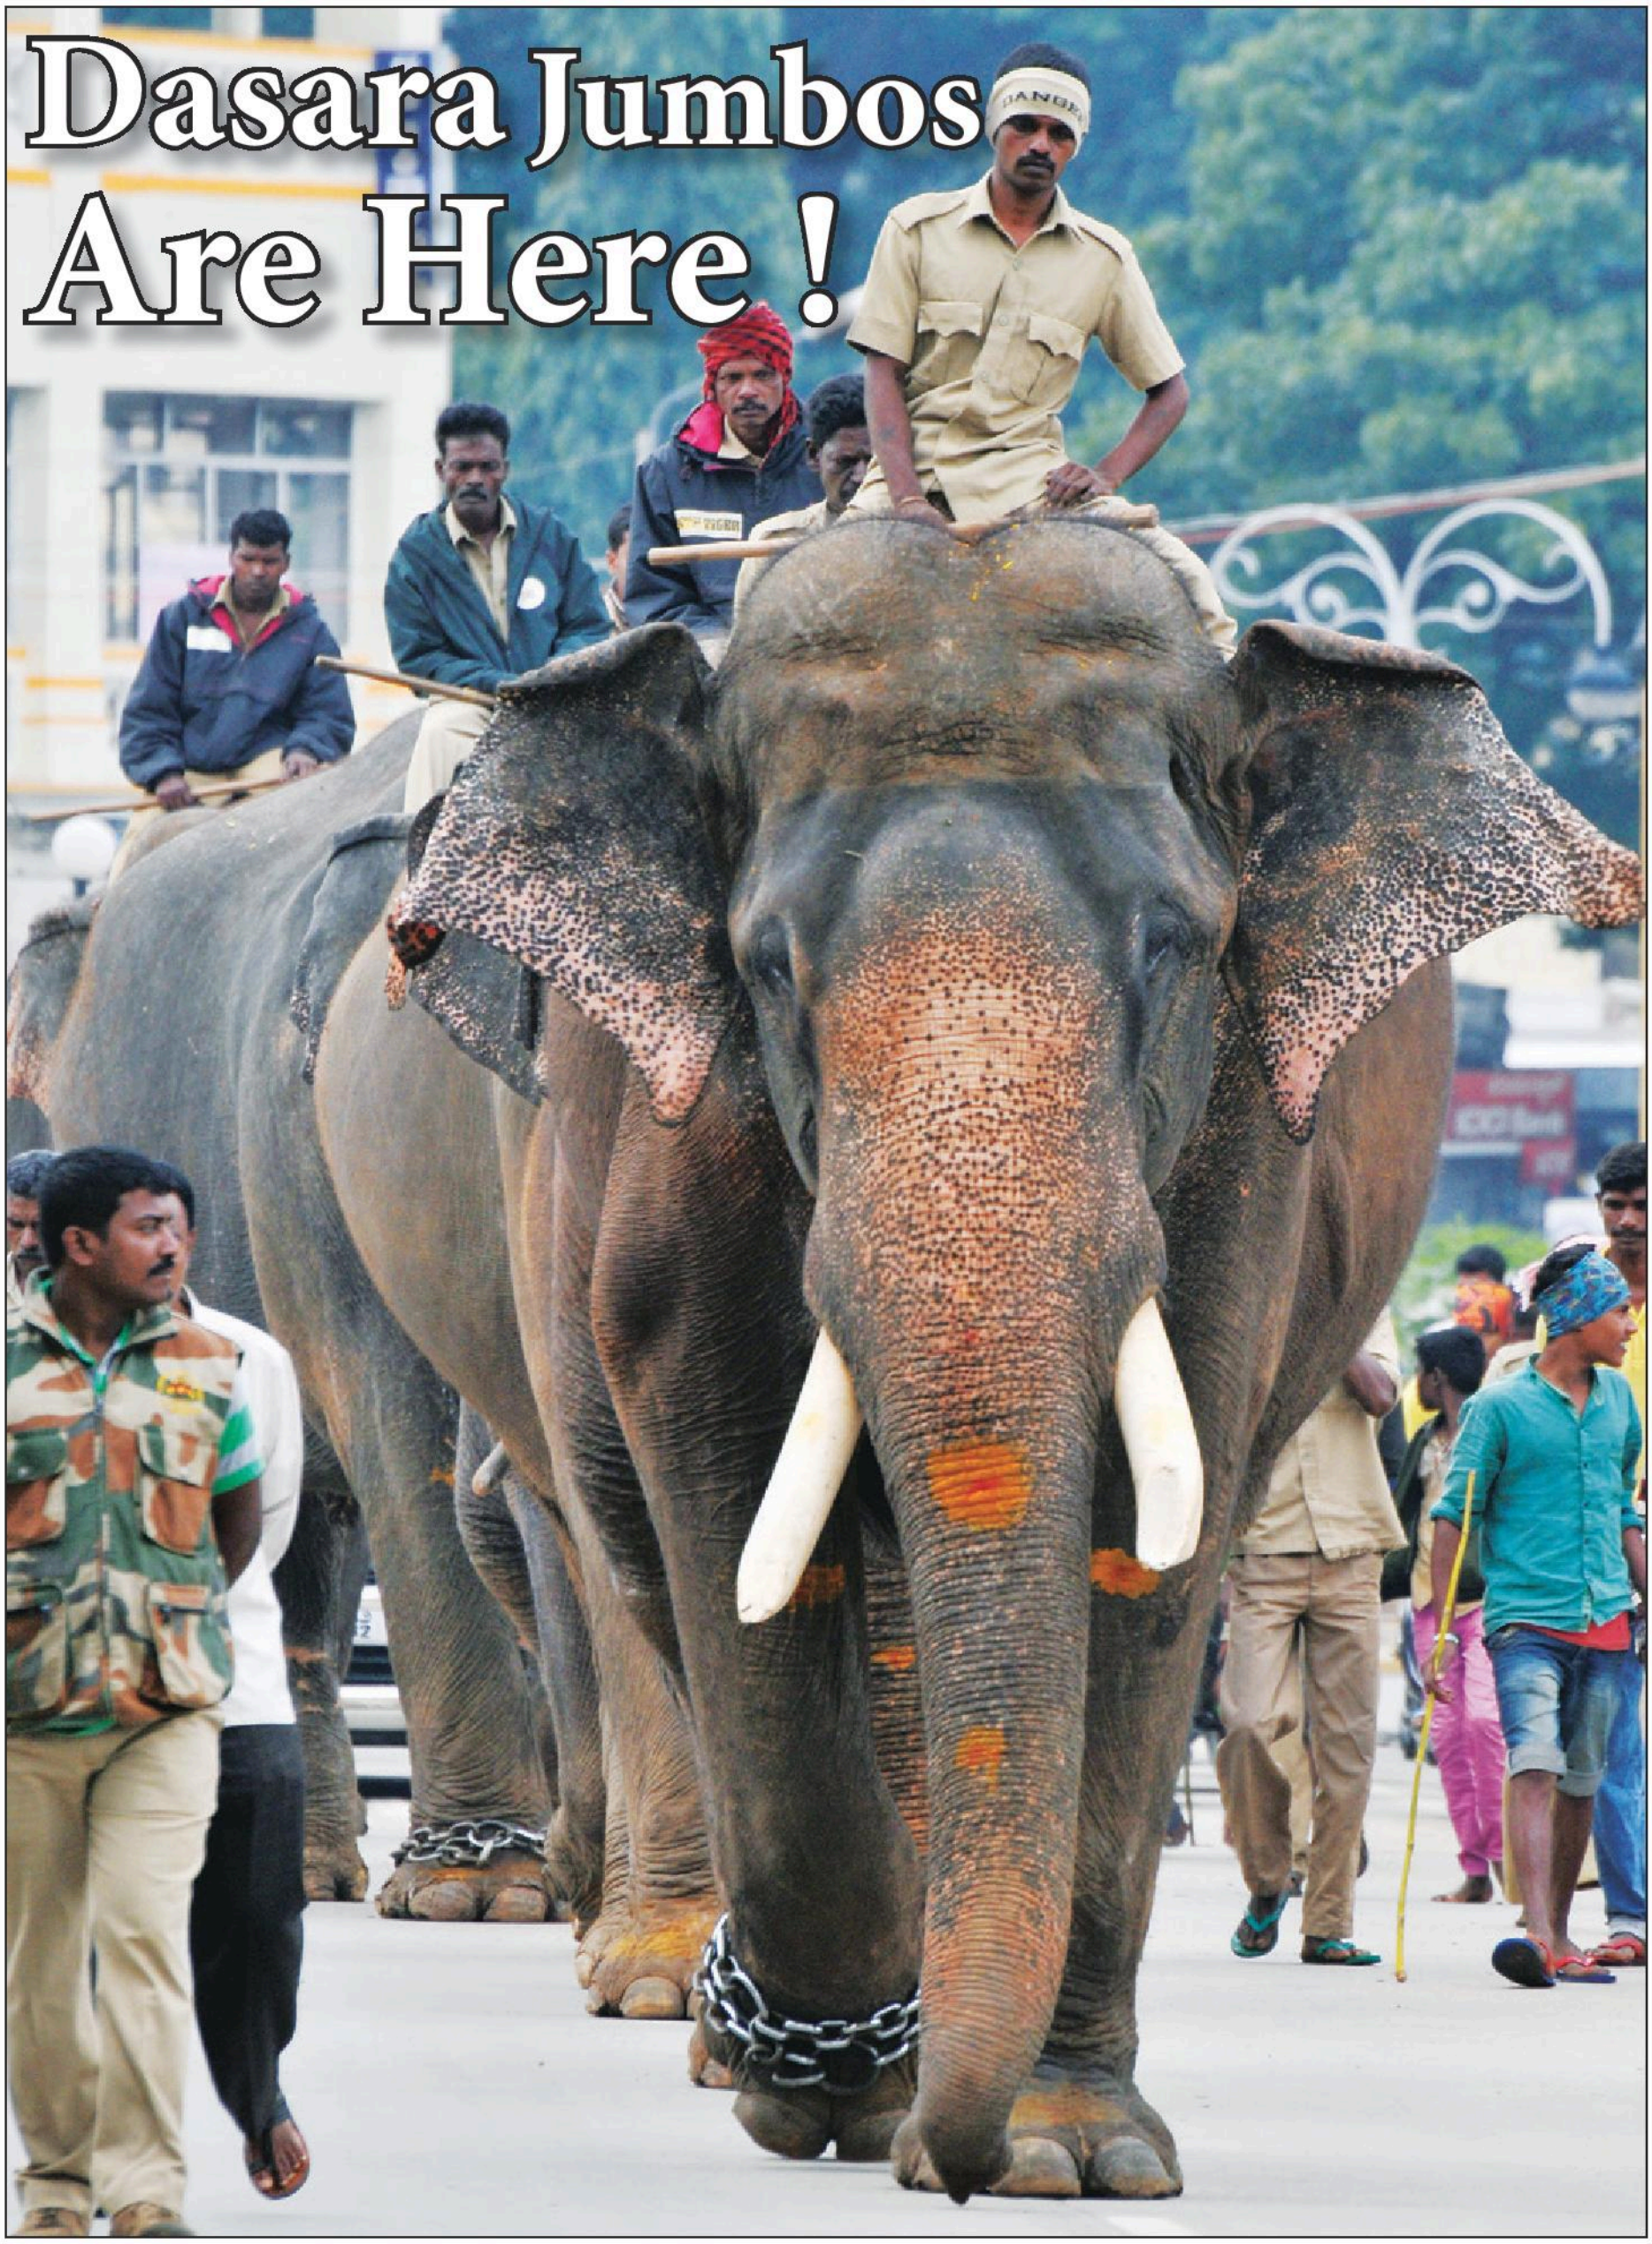
Dasara Jumbos Are Here !



Dasara JUMBOS all set for a grand spectacle

By S.N. Venkatnag Sobers

The main attraction of Dasara is the grand procession which is held on the day of Vijayadashami (Sept. 30). This year, Arjuna, will lead the procession by carrying the Golden Howdah (Chinnada Ambari) with the statue of Goddess Chamundeshwari installed upon it. The elephants, which live in their respective forest camps, arrive in Mysuru in two groups. They are brought to Mysuru to get acclimatised to the weather conditions and also to the Jumboo Savari route which starts from Mysore Palace and ends at Bannimantap Grounds. The City Police also conducts rehearsals of the cannon firing to make the elephants get used to the bombarding sound of the cannons.

The elephants, to Mysuru, are accompanied by their respective Mahouts and Kavadis, who come with their family members. This year, Gajapayana, the journey of elephants from the forest to city, was held from Nagapura, instead of Veeranahosahalli, near Nagarahole National Park in Hunsur. The jumbos are offered traditional puja before they start their journey. Earlier, the elephants were made to walk the entire route, but since a few years they are brought to Mysuru in trucks.

The elephants in their respective camps are served with rich nutritious food to keep them in perfect health condition for the Dasara festival. They are fed rice, groundnut, coconut, jaggery and sugarcane with some salt to add taste to the diet after they return from their regular rehearsals. This food is served twice a day.

They also get branch fodder like banyan leaves. Extra care is taken while serving food to the jumbos. High-calorie and protein-rich food is served to the elephants to improve their physical fitness. They carry a lot of weight at the procession and for that, they need strength. Hence they are fed with rich food. The food served in the morning is laced with pure butter for flavour.

An elephant eats 400 kilograms of fodder in a day in the forests. The food served to them in Mysuru contains high calories and is more than what they eat in the forest. The Dasara elephants are usually the ones which are caught by the mahouts with help of other elephants during the khedda operations held previously. During the Wadiyar rule, the elephants caught were inspected in an open field for strength, personality and character. The walking styles, weaknesses to seduction, the facial charisma were some of the factors considered for selection. Then the chosen elephants were trained for the festival. It is said that the King himself would oversee the training. Sometimes abandoned young elephants are also trained for Dasara. It is said that there are about 70 tamed elephants kept in camps at Dubare, Nagarahole, Veeranahosahalli, Metigud, Sunkadakatte, Bandipur, Moolehole, K. Gudi and Bheemeshwari. About 240 mahouts and kavadis take care of the needs of these elephants.

Elephants Drona and Balarama carried the idol of deity Goddess Chamundeshwari installed inside the 750kg Golden Howdah for a combined total of 30 years. Balarama took up the responsibility after Drona was electrocuted in 1998 at Nagarahole National Park. Balarama was retired after he carried the Golden Howdah for 13 years. The 57-year-old Arjuna replaced Balarama and carried the Golden Howdah for the first time during the Jumboo Savari held at 2012. Since then Arjuna has been carrying the Ambari.

This year, the first batch comprising of Arjuna, Abhimanyu, Balarama, Bheema, Gajendra, Vijaya, Kaveri and Varalakshmi were given traditional welcome by the district administration Jayamarthanda Gate of Mysore Palace on Aug. 17. The elephants on their arrival to Mysuru were stationed at Aloka Palace for few days after which they were brought to Aranya Bhavan before being shifted to the Mysore Palace.

The second batch of Dasara elephants Gopalaswamy, Vikrama, Gopi, Harsha, Krishna, Drona and Prashantha reached Mysore Palace on Aug. 31 to take part in the Jumboo Savari scheduled for Sept. 30.

Ever since the elephants have arrived, they have been kept under special care of DCF V. Yedukondalu, RFO Rajeshwari, DRFO Antony Swamy, Veterinarian Dr. D.N. Nagaraj, Veterinary Assistant Rangaraju and others.

He ensures ELEPHANTS are fit as a fiddle

Dedicating one's life for welfare of animals is not something which can be taken lightly. Though having studied veterinary science, many restrict themselves to be a pet doctor. But there are few people who join government service and dedicate themselves for well being of wild animals. One such person is veterinarian Dr. D.N. Nagaraj, who has been working with the elephants for the past 17 years taking care of their health.

Having completed his schooling and PU education at Turugnooru in Bannur Hobli, Dr. Nagaraj completed his Bachelor's in Veterinary Science from Veterinary College in Bengaluru and got selected for a government job during 1993. He worked as a veterinary officer with the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) between 1995 and 2000 after which he had been working on and off with the forest department.

With his vast experience, Dr. Nagaraj has been entrusted the task of taking care of all 15 Dasara Jumbos which have now taken shelter the Mysuru Palace. Dr. Nagaraj has also been working for the Project Tiger since 2012.

Dr. Nagaraj has played vital role in capturing the wild elephants. Till date he has taken part in capturing around 70 wild elephants at various parts of the State.

Dr. Nagaraj and 'Nail man' Rangaraju seen examining the foot of Abhimanyu.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Dr. Nagaraj said that every day was a challenge as the behaviour of the wild animals was unpredictable. "The most challenging is to handle the man-animal conflicts and convince people not harm the wild animals. Walking in the forest for about 4-6 kms to conduct the post mortem of the wild animals which are found dead due to electrocution, pouching is challenging as there are no proper roads inside the forest area."

Like mentioned earlier, Dr. Nagaraj has been entrusted the responsibility of looking after the Dasara elephants which are currently housed at the Mysore Palace premises. The elephants are continuously checked for their health and are provided with the rich food containing minerals, vitamins and proteins. Once the rehearsals for the elephants begin, Dr. Nagaraj accompanies the elephants everyday to the Torchlight Parade and then back to Mysore Palace, which is around 8.5 kms (both ways). He visits elephants' camp twice everyday and sometimes thrice depending on the need. The Dasara elephants are fed four times on a daily basis. They are given protein rich food at between 6 am and 6.30 am and again at 10.30 am after the rehearsals, later at 4 pm and 6 pm.

"The elephants are fed protein-rich food to keep them fit for the 10-day Dasara event. Initially, the elephants are made to walk early in the morning make them acclimatise to the weather conditions. Once they are comfortable, the forest department then places a cradle and sand bags to match the weight of the Golden Howdah (750 kgs) on Arjuna, the Howdah elephant, for the rehearsals", he said.

Once the elephant is comfortable carrying the weight, the authorities use the wooden howdah, which is around 380 kg along with sand bags for the rehearsals. The wooden howdah is placed on the elephants using a crane similar to Vijayadashami during which the Golden Howdah is placed using similar method.

It is not only during Dasara, that these elephants are given the royal treatment. Similar facilities are extended to them throughout the year in their respective camps as well. The forest department takes good care of these elephants to keep them healthy and fit throughout. "I visit the elephant camps once in every fortnight. The elephants are checked for their health and food intake. We also interact with the mahouts and kavadis to know about elephants' behaviour. Later, depending on the feedback and conducting few examinations, the elephants are given medications, if required. There are few days when I have stayed for more than a week at the camps to monitor the health of the elephants." he said.

Dr. Nagaraj, who credits his family for their support and co-operation, also mentioned that he is ready to work 24x7 looking after the wild animals and educating people, especially those living in the border of the forests to stop killing animals.

Children of Mahouts, Kavadis to enact 'Kindarijogi' at Makkala Dasara

Mysuru, Sept.9 (MTY&US)- For the first time, children of Mahouts and Kavadis of Dasara elephants will stage the play 'Kindarijogi' at the Makkala Dasara. In that context, children are busy practicing the play at the Tent School at Palace premises. The play is based on 'Bommanahalliya Kindarijogi' written by Rashtrakavi Kuvempu.

Mahouts and Kavadis stay in the city for a month-and-a-half for Dasara. To enable their children have continuity in education, a Tent School is usually established at Palace premises. With the elephants, over 22 children of Mahouts and Kavadis have also arrived from various jungle camps and they are camping at the Mysore Palace.

Usually, children of Mahouts and Kavadis present a song and dance programme at 'Makkala Dasara.' But for the first time this year, a play will be enacted at Jaganmohan Palace here on Sept.22 or 23 to bring out the hidden talent of those children.

For the first time the Education Department has deputed two teachers to the Tent School to teach music and drama to children to create an aptitude for art among them. Accordingly Drama teachers Rangaswamy and D. Nagendra Kumar of Kuvempu High School and Music teacher M.V. Anitha of Kuvempunagar Government High School have been deputed to the Tent School to groom the children.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, DDPI B.K.S. Vardhan contended that tribal children living in the forest usually lack concentration and hence opined that the children prefer to learn music and dance instead of basic education. He further said that the interest of those kids in extra-curricular activists needs to be nurtured to evolve an artiste in them.

Continuing, Nagendra Kumar said that the play 'Kindarijogi' has an excellent moral for kids exposing the concepts of gratitude and betrayal.

About the play

'Bommanahalliya Kindarijogi' by Kuvempu is a classic poetic work. Inspired by Robert Browning's 'Pied Piper of Hamlin', Kuvempu wrote this fairy tale-like poem 70 years ago. The moral and the message, the poet wanted to convey then are still fresh and even more relevant to the present day world where breaking promises has almost become the order of the day.

Along with emphasising on keeping promises, Kuvempu harps on two predominant features of humans namely Deva (godly) and Danava (demonly) behaviours and ultimately portrays that man, shunning his demonly behaviour must try to attain godliness.

Bommanahalli Gouda's atrocities are worse than the havoc caused by rats for the villagers. Their repeated appeals to him and attempts to curb the rat menace fail miserably. At this juncture arrives Kindari Jogi, whose kindari (musical instrument) mesmerises the rats, which follow him to the tank where all of them drown. In the meantime, he puts off fulfilling his promise to Jogi, which irritates him. He lures the kids with his musical instrument and takes them away from the village with a warning to mend their ways or realise how costly it will be when promises are not met.

A Kindarijogi at our own Rangayana

STANDING TALL: The imposing statue of Kindarijogi in Rangayana campus is an added attraction for visitors to the theatre repertoire. During annual Dasara, Rangayana too organises a series of theatre activities including "Navaratri Rangotsava."

Mouth-watering traditional tribal delicacies to be served at Dasara Aahara Mela

The tribals baking the Flame-of-the-Forest leaves on cinders to serve traditional food. Picture right shows a few of the tribal women rolling ragi rotti in Flame-of-the-Forest leaves. This, along with 'Bamboo Biriyani,' will be the gastronomic delight to be served at the Aahara Mela during Dasara celebrations scheduled from Sept. 21 to 30 at the Scouts and Guides Ground.

Mysuru, Sept.9 (MTY&NNN)- Come Dasara and the District Administration completely gears up to celebrate it in a befitting manner. It is not just the nine-day celebrations and the tenth day Jumboo Savari, nor the Yuva Dasara nor the various music and cultural programmes that it hosts that people look forward to. But, the initiative it has taken to introduce the tribal and the adivasi way of life, food habits and their vibrant culture, since the last few years that equally attracts the people of Mysuru and other parts.

It is with this motive that the District Administration welcomed the Adivasis from various Tribal Haadis yesterday at the Scouts and Guides Ground adjacent to the Crawford Hall. They will be serving traditional food from Sept. 21 to 30 during the Aahara (Food) Mela.

Social Welfare Department Principal-Secretary V. Lakshminarayan, Deputy Commissioner D. Randeep, Zilla Panchayat CEO P. Shivashankar, Karnataka State Tribal Research Centre Director Dr. T.T. Basavegowda, Food and Civil Supplies Deputy Director Dr. K. Rameshwarappa and Comprehensive Tribal Development Planning Coordinator C. Shivakumar welcomed them with roses.

They were also welcomed with traditional dance performed by the tribals. Later, by serving baked tuber and tasting honey, the officials inaugurated the programme.

Gastronomic Delights: Dasara Aahara Mela Sub-Committee Working President Dr. Rameshwarappa, speaking on the occasion, said that this year the Adivasis from various parts of the State will arrive and serve variety of traditional tribal and adivasi food to the people of Mysuru and the tourists that will throng the Food Mela during Dasara.

Along with the 'Bamboo Biriyani,' which has become the hot favourite dish among the people since the last two years, this year the Adivasis from Biligirirangana Betta will be serving tradition food items like Ragi Rotti, pumpkin, field beans (avarekai) curry on Flame-of-the-Forest (Butea monosperma) leaves, which will be an added attraction.

The Adivasis are adept at their own medicines and they always depend on the forest that has plenty of medicinal plants. Hence, they will be introducing wild banana recipes, which have medicinal value for people suffering from diabetes. The other mouth-watering recipes include bamboo rice payasa, magali beru (Decalepis hamiltonii) tea, coffee, Ragi Balls (ragi mudde) — crab curry and Maddu Payasa.

The Aahara Food Mela will be held in Bharat Scouts and Guides Ground and also in Lalitha Mahal Palace grounds from Sept. 21 to 30. However, the special Adivasi food will be served only at Scouts and Guides Ground. Last year, 'Bamboo Biriyani' was in such great demand that it would just fly off the pots and people had to return disappointed, as sufficient bamboo was not available in the forests adequately. However, this year, all arrangements are being made to cater to the taste buds of at least 1,000 people. Hence, the bamboo will be got from forests of Kerala to fulfil the demand, said Dr. Rameshwarappa.

Social Welfare Department Joint Director B.S. Prabha, Lamps Society President K.R. Krishnaiah, Karnataka State Moola Adivasigala Rakshana Vedike President G.K. Gopal Poojari, General Secretary Vijaykumar, Adivasi Sangha's Kaveri and others were present.

Adivasis with their traditional music instruments entertaining the officials of the District Administration at the Scouts and Guides Ground in city yesterday.

Can fibroids cause infertility in women?

Fibroids are the most frequently seen tumors of the female reproductive system. Fibroids are abnormal growths that develop in or on a woman's uterus. Sometimes, these tumors become quite large and cause severe abdominal pain and heavy periods. Fibroids are benign (that is, non-cancerous) tumors of the uterus. They grow from the muscle cells of the uterus and may protrude from the inside surface of the uterus or they may be contained within the muscular wall. Although the exact cause is unknown, the growth of fibroids seems to be related to a gene that controls cell growth. Fibroid growth is affected by the reproductive hormones estrogen and progesterone. Fibroids regress at menopause.

Dr. Devika Gunasheela

Symptoms of uterine fibroids may include: Heavy or prolonged menstrual periods, abnormal bleeding between menstrual periods, pelvic pain (caused as the tumor presses on pelvic organs), frequent urination, low back pain and pain during intercourse.

Fibroids may cause infertility in a number of different ways. A large fibroid may cause compression of the fallopian tubes resulting in a blockage of the passage of sperm or eggs. If a fibroid protrudes into the uterine cavity or causes distortion of the uterine cavity, it may present a mechanical barrier to implantation.

Some studies have suggested that fibroids in the muscle portion of the uterus may cause an alteration or reduction of blood flow to the uterine lining making it more difficult for an implanted embryo to grow and develop. There is much disagreement amongst physicians about when a myomectomy (operation for removal of fibroid) for infertility should be performed. Most would agree that fibroids that are within the uterine cavity or causing significant distortion of the cavity should be removed. However, what about a single small fibroid that is located within the muscular wall of the uterus but does not protrude into or distort the cavity? This is still left unanswered. The controversy exists because it is very difficult to do studies that prove the effect of myomectomy. Mayank, Abhishek propel Hubli to big win

Mysuru, Sept. 9- Mayank Agarwal and Abhishek Reddy turned on the style against Namma Shivamogga as Hubli Tigers cantered to their third win of the Karbonn Smartphones Karnataka Premier League 2017, powered by Cycle Pure Agarbathies, at the SDNR Wadiyar Stadium here yesterday.

Agarwal (92 not out off 58 balls) and Reddy (67 off 67) put on a stand of 152 as Hubli toppled Shivamogga's 166 for 6 in 19.2 overs, finishing at 169 for 3.

Shivamogga had set Hubli a tricky target, but the start provided by Agarwal and Reddy ensured the job was much easier that it could have been. Agarwal made a statement in the very first delivery of the innings with a cracking cover drive off T. Pradeep. Abhishek Reddy made his intentions clear in the next over, with a heave for four off Somanna. The two never really eased off thereafter, no bowler was spared, and both pace and spin was treated with equal disdain.

Stuart Binny stars for Bengaluru Blasters

In the earlier match, Stuart Binny's all-round performance of 87 and two for 37, helped Belagavi Panthers to register a good 23-run win over Bengaluru Blasters. Needing 193-runs to win, Bengaluru Blasters rallied well, but fell short by 23-runs and ended up scoring 169 in 19.3 overs.

Opener Vishwanth (65, 35b, 2x4, 5x6) and skipper Shishir Bhavane (34, 23b, 5x4) batted well by adding 85 runs for the second wicket, but could not help team to cross the line. Kishore Kamat bowled his leg-spinners well to pick up four for 26.

Earlier, Belagavi Panthers won the toss and electing to bat, got off to a shaky start (15/1) losing Kaunain Abbas (5). Three wickets fell in a heap when No. 3 batsman, Shashindra (3), Naga Bharath (1) and opener B.R. Sharath (19) departed, which left Belagavi Panthers struggling at 32 for four in 6.5 overs.

The experienced Stuart Binny and S. Rakshith batted sensibly and added 50-runs which retrieved the team's position to some extent. Stuart Binny and S. Rakshith (29, 23b, 1x4, 1x6) were involved in a vital stand of 89-runs partnership. Later Binny and Stalin Hoover (20, 8b, 1x4, 2x6) added 40 useful runs in just 16 balls.

Stuart Binny scored a valuable 87 (46b, 8x4, 5x6) and Belagavi Panthers ended up scoring the highest team total in this edition tournament by posting 192 for seven in 20 overs.

Brief Scores: Namma Shivamogga 166 for six in 20 overs (R. Jonathan 69 n.o, Anirudha A Joshi 31, Shoaib Manager 26, Abhishek Sakuja two for 25, Kranthi Kumar two for 41) lost to Hubli Tigers 169 for three in 19.2 overs (Mayank Agarwal 92 n.o., Abhishek Reddy 67).

Belagavi Panthers 192 for seven in 20 overs (Stuart Binny 87, S. Rakshith 29 Abhishek Bhat two for 22, Prasidh M. Krishna two for 50) beat Bengaluru Blasters 169 in 19.3 overs (M. Vishwanath 65, Shishir Bhavane 34, Kishore Kamat four for 26, Stalin Hoover two for 21, Stuart Binny two for 37).

BOY STABLE AFTER SURGERY

The condition of Amoghavarsha, an LKG student of Vidyavardhaka Institutions, is stable. The boy underwent a six-hour surgery at a private hospital and is recuperating, said his father Ajay Prasad, a techie with Infosys. Ajay said that they had brought the Rottweiler three years back and was like a member of the family.

"My son was ready to go for an evening walk with his mother and as soon as my son came out of house and started running, the dog followed him and caught him by his head and shook him from side to side," Ajay said and added that more than 80% of his son's scalp was severely bruised and he sustained deep bite injuries on his face, chest, back and neck region.

Apart from the Rottweiler, the family has four other pets. The other breeds include a German Shepherd, a Doberman, a Labrador and a Pit Bull.

VETS TO STUDY DOG'S BEHAVIOUR

Veterinary doctors will study the behaviour of the Rottweiler that attacked the little boy. Officials attached to Department of Animal Husbandry and Veterinary Services told Star of Mysore that Dr. Srinivas, who is attached to the K.G. Koppal Veterinary Hospital, will visit the house to study the behaviour of the dog and the conditions under which the pet is placed. He will submit a report to the Deputy Director P.M. Prasad Murthy.

Rottweilers are known for their ferocity. When such dogs are reared as pets, owners should take extra precautions by not allowing children or aged people close to them.

Pet dog attack: A Vet's view

Veterinarian Dr. C.S. Arun of Gokulam has the following observations on the pet dog attacking a little boy. Terming the incident as utterly shocking, Dr. Arun says that the incident mandates an urgent introspection on the part of all pet-parents as to what went wrong.

1. Breed selection: Before bringing a pet, one has to consult a Vet so as to get inputs about the breed character and its requirements. Choose a breed which you can control. Don't go by your whims and fancies or advertisements or machismo.

2. Upbringing: Dog is a pack animal and it will follow a strong leader. Since puppy-hood itself, show him who the boss is. Provide ample space to move around. Tying up for prolonged duration makes him frustrated. Give him lot of exercise and also your personal time.

3. Training: Obedience training the puppy at an age of around four months is a must.

4. Neutering: Many pet-parents overlook this factor. Sexual urge makes male dogs more aggressive. 90% of the dogs will not get a chance to mate in their life-time. So, always go for neutering your pet at an early age of around six months.

Illegal explosive factory at Dera

The Haryana Police decided to dig up a mass grave inside the Dera complex after some people, who were earlier associated with the sect but left it later, alleged that the sect chief got those killed who opposed his activities and got them buried inside the campus of the sect.

The search operation to sanitise the sect premises started yesterday with a few computers, a luxurious black car and huge amount of cash being seized. According to sources, the search teams had also found hundreds of pairs of shoes, designer clothes and colourful caps of the jailed Gurmeet Ram Rahim Singh.

Locksmiths, forensic experts and dog squads were called in to assist in the comprehensive search. Internet services in Sirsa district were suspended by local authorities. 41 paramilitary companies, four Army columns, cops from as many districts, a SWAT team, and a dog squad were deployed for the search of the Dera headquarters.

Bomb disposal squads and commandos were also deployed inside the sect premises as a preventive measure.

WORD OF THE DAY

Fossick

Pronunciation: Fos-ik.
Meaning: To hunt; seek; ferret out; Mining. To undermine another's digging; search for waste gold in relinquished workings, washing places, etc.
Origin: The verb fossick is confined pretty much to Australia and New Zealand. As with many regional and dialect words, its etymology is unclear: the verb seems to be a regional British term fussock, fursick meaning "to fuss, fidget, bustle." In Australia and New Zealand fossick originally meant to hunt for gold or other precious metals or precious stones by digging with a knife or by studying the ground for overlooked fragments. Fossick has an additional sense of hunting for or foraging for small items e.g., to fossick through a drawer for scissors. Fossick entered English in the 19th century.

THE ODD WORD

Flitterwochen

Fleeting weeks; honeymoon.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

A drop in the bucket

Meaning: A very small proportion of the whole.
Origin: The phrase originated from the Bible, Isaiah 40:15 (King James Version): "Behold, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are counted as the small dust of the balance: behold, he taketh up the isles as a very little thing." 'A drop in the bucket' is the predecessor of 'a drop in the ocean', which means the same thing, and is first found in a piece from The Edinburgh Weekly Journal, July 1802: "The votes for the appointment of Bonaparte to be Chief Consul for life are like a drop in the ocean compared with the aggregate of the population of France."
